Message:

despite the current situation we are all dealing with, Wave Office Stationery are still operating and trying our hardest to help keep your business operating.

Stocks and supplies are still good on most lines, and next day delivery is still possible although we will be using couriers to distribute goods instead of our own means.

Stocks on antibacterial supplies are still unavailable as these are being prioritised for the NHS. We are trying to source from alternative means, and as soon as we have stock available you will receive an email. If you would like me to contact you directly when I have stocks due then please let me know.
